OPQ Manager Plus Report

Name

Mr Sample Candidate

Date

03 October 2018

INTRODUCTION

This report is intended for use by line managers and HR professionals. It contains a range of information which is useful to support selection decisions.

It shows:

1. How Mr. Candidate prefers to work (for example whether he likes following rules or is prepared to break them).
2. How Mr. Candidate is likely to interact with his colleagues in a team.
3. His likely performance against a range of competencies proven to be important at work (e.g. Leading and Supervising).

USING THIS REPORT

This report is based on Mr. Candidate's responses to the Occupational Personality Questionnaire (OPQ). His responses have been compared against those of a large relevant comparison group to give a description of Mr. Candidate's preferred approach to work.

The responses Mr. Candidate gave show the way he sees his own behaviour, rather than how another person might describe him. This report describes preferred ways of behaving, rather than actual skills levels. The accuracy of this report depends on the frankness with which he answered the questions as well as his self-awareness. Nevertheless, this report provides important indicators of Mr. Candidate's style at work. This report links the information from the personality questionnaire to the twenty universal competencies.

This report has a shelf-life of 18-24 months and should be treated confidentially. If there are major changes in his life or work he should complete the OPQ again.

If you require support in interpreting this report, please contact a person in your organisation who has received full training in the use of the OPQ.

Please note that Mr. Candidate has completed the questionnaire very inconsistently. This suggests that he may have had some difficulty completing the questionnaire or may not have answered the questions openly. His results should therefore be treated with some caution. You may wish to verify Mr. Candidate's results through further sources of evidence (e.g. an interview or a work sample exercise) or seek guidance from someone who is professionally qualified in the use of the OPQ32.

BEHAVIOUR AT WORK

This section is based on Mr. Candidate's responses to the Occupational Personality Questionnaire (OPQ) and describes his preferred style at work in three key areas: interacting with people, approaching tasks, and managing feelings and emotions.

How is Mr. Candidate likely to interact with people?

- He describes himself as being as interested in selling and negotiating as most of his peers
- Is a little reluctant to take charge
- Quite reluctant to put forward his own opinions or criticise others
- Is inclined to follow his own approach regardless of group consensus
- As lively and open in groups as most
- Likes a balance between spending time alone and spending time with others
- Feels as confident as most in formal situations or when meeting new people
- Usually enjoys talking about his own achievements
- Has a slight preference for making decisions alone without consultation
- Generally selective with support and sympathy for colleagues

How is Mr. Candidate likely to approach tasks at work?

- Sees himself as having a typical preference for working with numerical data

- Reports a strong inclination to take information or plans proposed to him at face value
- Is as interested as most in the motivations and behaviours of people
- Sees himself as having a definite preference for new ways of working
- He is likely to be as interested as most in theories and conceptual ideas
- Has a preference for coming up with new ideas which is typical of his peers
- His desire for variety and novelty is balanced with his like for routine and repetition in his work
- Has a strong inclination to adapt his behaviour to meet the changing demands of the situations or people he is dealing with
- Likely to take a fairly short term view and to think less of the longer-term implications
- Shows slightly less concern for order and detail than most of his peers
- His emphasis on seeing tasks through to completion is considerably lower than most people
- Has a slight tendency to see rules as flexible and feel frustrated by bureaucracy

How are Mr. Candidate's feelings and emotions likely to impact his work?

- He sees himself as relatively free from anxiety or worry in his general work life
- Tends to be slightly worried and tense before important events
- He sees himself as more resilient to criticism and a little less likely than most to take offence
- Takes a moderately pessimistic view of the future
- Is slightly cautious when judging the reliability and honesty of others
- He describes himself as someone who has a slight tendency to show his emotions openly
- He describes a typical preference for work which keeps him busy with plenty to do
- Competition is likely to be of some importance to him
- Describes himself as markedly less ambitious than most
- When making decisions he has a slight tendency to be more cautious than the majority of people

Additional comments about Mr. Candidate's likely behaviour at work:

- Has strong views about what approach to take but may not fully evaluate the potential problems and pitfalls involved

WORKING IN A TEAM

Successful teams share common tasks or projects and work collectively towards the same goals. Within the team each individual makes a specific contribution to the process and thereby affects the success of the team. To achieve their goals the members of a team need to complete a number of key tasks.

Mr. Candidate's likely impact within a team is summarised below. This focuses on his strengths and weaknesses across team tasks.

Overall, Mr. Candidate usually manages a good balance between task-related and people-related issues.

He is likely to be as capable as most in:

- Identifying possible solutions for team tasks
- Having an energising impact on other team members
- Building relationships inside and outside the team
- Helping the team to maintain their workload and reach their goals

His weaker areas are likely to lie in:

- Helping the team to evaluate ideas and concepts which contribute to team success
- Steering team activities
- Maintaining a positive team climate
- Planning team work and sustaining team productivity

COMPETENCIES

This section highlights Mr. Candidate's likely performance on key competencies important in the workplace. By selecting those competencies that are most important, and probing those areas for evidence of how he has demonstrated effectiveness, you are more likely to recruit the best person. The competency scores for Mr. Candidate below are based on his responses to the OPQ. Definitions of the twenty competencies can be found towards the back of this report. Recommended interview questions for each of the competencies are provided in the Universal Competency Framework™ Interview Guide. Competency profiling cards are also available to help in identifying essential or desirable competencies. Please note that the Interview Guide and Competency Profiling Cards are available in a limited range of languages. For more information contact your SHL representative.

7.2 Coping with Pressures and Setbacks	Maintains a positive outlook at work; works productively in a pressurised environment; keeps emotions under control during difficult situations; handles criticism well and learns from it; balances the demands of a work life and a personal life.

8. Enterprising and Performing
8.1 Achieving Personal Work Goals and Objectives	Accepts and tackles demanding goals with enthusiasm; works hard and puts in longer hours when it is necessary; seeks progression to roles of increased responsibility and influence; identifies own development needs and makes use of developmental or training opportunities.
8.2 Entrepreneurial and Commercial Thinking	Keeps up to date with competitor information and market trends; identifies business opportunities for the organisation; maintains awareness of developments in the organisational structure and politics; demonstrates financial awareness; controls costs and thinks in terms of profit, loss and added value.

ABILITY TESTS AND COMPETENCIES

The relationship between UCF competencies and ability tests is shown in the table below.

For some competencies, a number of ability tests may be relevant. However, this does not mean that all of these ability tests need to be completed. The choice of ability tests should be driven by an understanding of the job requirements (please consult with a qualified person within your organisation for further guidance if needed). Competency predictions are still robust if only OPQ or OPQ with one or two ability tests have been used.
